COURSE INFORMATION

Why English?

Language and literacy skills are important in school subjects, and later in the world of work. Not only will you be able to communicate with others better, you will be more confident in carrying out new and more challenging tasks in everyday situations.

The skills that you develop in English are useful in a wide range of careers; these include teaching, editorial, journalism, administration, legal work or in the arts.

Course Outline

This course will help you to develop skills in listening, talking, reading and writing, which are essential for learning, life and work. You will learn how to get across your thoughts and feelings better and deal with those of other people. You will use different media effectively for learning and communication.

The course has three compulsory units.

English: Understanding Language

In this unit you will:

- develop reading and listening skills in the context of literature, language and media
- develop skills needed to understand, analyse and evaluate simple texts.

English: Producing Language

In this unit you will:

- develop talking and writing skills in familiar contexts
- develop the skills needed to produce simple texts in both written and oral forms.

English: Literacy

In this unit you will:

- develop reading, writing, listening and talking skills in a variety of forms relevant for learning, life and work
- develop the ability to talk and write about ideas and information with technical accuracy.

ASSESSMENT

Your work will be assessed by your teacher or tutor on an ongoing basis throughout the course. Items of work might include

- practical work – reading, speaking or listening to texts
- written work – producing simple texts.

You must pass all units to gain the course qualification.

PROGRESSION

If you complete the course successfully, it may lead to:

- National 4 English

Further study, training or employment in:

- Arts, Social Sciences and Religion
- Communications and Media
- Languages
- Teaching and Classroom Support
